THE SARAH & EUGENE ZINN MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP FOR HOLOCAUST STUDIES AND SOCIAL JUSTICE

The College of Letters and Sciences invites applications for the Sarah & Eugene Zinn Memorial Scholarship for Holocaust Studies and Social Justice. Scholarships will support programs of study, internships, or research projects that apply the knowledge of the Jewish experience, and especially the lessons of the Holocaust, to contemporary society and social justice issues.

This support is made possible by a gift to the College by Harry and Helene Zinn, and their friends and family, in memory of their parents. Students in all majors are eligible to apply as long as the project is focused in some way on Jewish Studies. Preference will be given to Jewish Studies majors or students whose area of study relates to Jewish issues and learning.

Scholarships are open to all UCLA undergraduates. Students must enroll in an SRP 99 course during summer session for two units and pay the campus fee.

Awards will be administered by the Undergraduate Research Center for the Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences in the UCLA College, and overseen by the UCLA Alan D. Leve Center for Jewish Studies and its director, Professor Todd Presner.

Amount: Up to $2,500 per summer or quarter. The award may affect a student's financial aid package. Consult your financial aid advisor.

Before submitting your application, contact the Alan D. Leve Center for Jewish Studies' Community Affairs Coordinator Mary Pinkerson: mpinkers@humnet.ucla.edu for assistance or review.
